

* Hygienic design is understood as material requirements as well as the constructive design

 Provide disassembly instruction if necessary/required

 The question is only asked in the initial process. In the second run, this question is no longer asked.

